Winston Churchill Attacks Admiralty

IN DARING SPEECH ANSWERING LORD BALFOUR.

LACKS DRIVING FORCE

Declares It Must be Revitalized Before it is Too Late by Bringing Back Lord Fisher to Head the Admiralty.

London, March 7 .- Winston Spencer hurchili, former first lord of the ad-nicalty, now a colonel and fresh from he trenches, sprang back into the pariliamentary arena today in a daring speech answering Fird Lord of the Admiralty Balfour, who had just presented the naval estimates, and declaring that the admiralty lacked driving force and must be revitalized before it was too late by bringinb back Lord Fisher, the former first see level. Lord Fisher, the former first sea lord, to head the admiralty administration.

Interest in Churchill's Reappearance. Great interest attached to Colonel urchill's reappearance after a period of silence while serving with the army and while the naval policy he had in-augurated at the opening of the war was undergoing considerable change. Balfour's Optimistic Statement. Mr. Balfour had just concluded an ar, ballour had just concluded an optimistic statement of the naval outiook, which strongly appealed to the patriotic sentiments of the house of commons; so that Colonel Churchill's suggestions were at firts received coldly. But he gradually gained attention and applause until he closed amid a scene of enthusiasm.

"A Jarring Note of Warning." He referred to his remarks as "a jarring note and warning" which he said had to be given. Since he re-turned from the front he had received nformation which was not entirely saisfying concerning the progress of naval construction. Details must necessarily be avoided, he said, but it could be said that if every capital ship provided for in the naval programme had been completed the navy would be ready, with an ample margin of safety. It was within the power of the admir-alty to complete this programme, but he expressed doubt whether this had been done. Meanwhile there was an impenetrable veil over the German
